

Binary cross-entropy for one sample

A confident wrong prediction receives a large penalty.

Clamping avoids evaluating $\log 0$ numerically.